

Stations Conference

Data Analytics and Performance & Diagnostics Center

March 19-20, 2019 • Tucson, AZ

OVERVIEW

This conference will explore initiatives that are changing traditional methods of collecting and analyzing large amounts of data and of gathering evidence of wear or degradation of equipment.

Conference Objectives:

- Gather information on techniques, technologies, and tools employed in analyzing the performance of substation assets.
- Identify opportunities to improve diagnostic ability to increase station reliability and resiliency, preventing unexpected failures.
- Examine methods and trends in failure analysis to address performance gaps and prevent repeat occurrences.
- Explore new methods of data analytics to recognize trends and identify issues.
- Learn from others who have developed or adopted new methods in performance analysis and diagnostics of station assets.
- Examine the experience of other industries on these topics, for possible application to electric utilities.

THEMES

1. Relationship between Maintenance & Failure Rates
2. Assets & Parameters to Focus On
3. Trends in Failure Analysis
4. Symptoms of Equipment Failure Modes
5. Root Cause Determination & Failure Analysis
6. Performance Analysis & Diagnostics

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- Substation Managers & Maintenance Supervisors
- Transmission Station Engineers & Engineering Supervisors
- Asset Managers
- Consultants, Service Providers & Contractors, in partnership with a utility
- Consultants & Contractors from other industries with experience and examples of their application of these themes
