

CEATI WOMEN IN POWER INTERNATIONAL GROUP

Webinar

with Rosanah Santos & Cheryl Robertson of SaskPower

April, 23rd 2020 1:00 PM - 2:00 PM EST

Biographical Summary

Since 2018, Rosanah has been a part of the CEATI Women in Power Mentorship Program. She is a Project Portfolio Manager and a Professional Engineer for SaskPower. She has 18 years of experience over multiple industries, with the majority being the power utility industry. She is passionate about both Project Management and Engineering and loves to share this knowledge with others. This has been demonstrated through her Engineering Association volunteer work encouraging the younger generation to pursue careers in Engineering and Science. Joining PMI in 2006, Ms. Santos has previously served as a board member for the PMI-North Saskatchewan Chapter and currently as Director of Sponsorship. She also has an active interest in developing young professionals through coaching and mentoring for positive impact, and was most recently the first female Distribution Engineering Manager at SaskPower.

Cheryl is currently the Manager of Meter Standards and Compliance at SaskPower. She has spent the last 18 years at SaskPower and has moved through the organization from her entry level engineering position to holding several leadership positions across four different business units. Cheryl claims mentoring and professional coaching has helped her be successful in each role she has taken and allowed her to advance and change in the organization with confidence. She has relied on formal and informal mentorships both internal and external to SaskPower. Recently, Cheryl has taken the classroom training to start the journey towards becoming a Professional Coach and is hoping to help women and others from diverse backgrounds achieve their highest potential in engineering and the electrical industry.
